100 Dollars Reward.

I WILL give the above reward to any person who will return to my possession, negro LAWRENCE, who assumes the sirname of FENWICK. This fellow left my farm, on the Wicomico river, in Charles county, Md. on the 6th July, in consequence of his own outrageous conduct towards my overseer. He is a negro of a fine erect figure, good features, a smooth black skin, rather above the middle stature, of a youthful appearance for one of thirty years of age, and of great plausibility and natural smartness. His ears grow remarkably close to his head, and on the inside of his lower lip he has a white mark or spot. I purchased him 4 years ago of the estate of Mrs. P. H. Courts, of this county. I am led (by circumstances which have come to my knowledge since he absconded,) to believe that he will endeavor to make his way to King George county, Va.; should he not take this route, he will probably be met with in the District of Columbia, or in the upper counties of this state, on his way to Pennsylvania. I apprehend he will change his name, and if committed to jail, refuse to state to whom he belongs, as the misconduct which preceded his departure, & his absconding, have all appeared since to have been premeditated. He took all his clothes with him, of which he had a large number; among them—a new bear-skin over-coat, a long close-bodied blue coat, a pair of striped jean pantaloons, one or more white waistcoats, besides many articles of coarse cloathing; these, however, he will probably exchange, or sell them for cash to defray his travelling expenses.

I will give the above reward to any person who will bring him home to me, or FIFTY DOLLARS if confined in jail, and notice given me, so that I recover him.—Should he be taken out of the state, I will also pay all reasonable costs and charges which may attend the bringing him home.

Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN away from the subscriber living in King George's county Va. on Monday the 22nd March, a yellow man named JAMES, about 22 years of age, his foreteeth wide apart, and cannot speak very quick—had on Virginia cloth clothes and carried off a shaggy great coat, he has a father named Peter Hall, who lives with the widow Morgan, at Oak Hill, Fauquier Co. and his grandfather, old Frederick Hall, is supposed to be living at Mr. Terrett's near Alexandria, and it is likely he may be lurking about there. I will give the above reward for apprehending and securing said fellow so that I get him again, and reasonable charges if brought home.

BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. RATCLIFFE,

Missouri and Illinois Bounty Lands

THE subscriber has now for sale a number of the most valuable tracts, in both of those rich and improving bodies of lands, and can supply applicants with any number they may wish, and in any part of either territory. Every person who visits the Western Country, particularly those who intend settling there, should take with them a few quarter sections of those lands; every man who has a young and growing family, and can spare a few hundred dollars, should not miss the present opportunity of getting some of those lands; as it will insure to his children a greater certainty than any other investment he can possibly make for their benefit.—From the immense emigration to both Illinois and Missouri, particularly to the military lands, it is certain there must be a great rise in the price very soon, and those who miss the present opportunity, will never again have a chance to do so well. The patents will be sold very low, for cash, good notes or bonds at short dates, or bank stock in the Central Bank of Georgetown and Washington, and the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Georgetown. As I am a large dealer in Military Bounty Lands, I can supply any number that may be required.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1819.

The following advertisement is copied from the Woodstock (Shenandoah county, Virginia) Herald of August 25.

DOMESTIC MOLASSES AND SUGAR.

The subscribers inform the citizens of Shenandoah county, that they have purchased the right for manufacturing Molasses and Sugar from grain within said county, according to a plan of James Wiseheart, the patentee, which they will dispose of for the trifling sum of five dollars for a family right, and fifty dollars for those who may wish to manufacture for sale.

The gentleman to whom the country is indebted for this valuable discovery, is at present residing on South River, where he has exhibited to the satisfaction of the people, the cheap and easy method of obtaining an article which has become so necessary in our living. He states that himself and many of his neighbors have made use of the molasses for several years, and in every case, where the trial has been continued for a considerable time, it is preferred to the imported molasses.

ABRAHAM WHITSON,
FRANCIS LYMAN.

Overal's Mills, Shenandoah county, August 11, 1819.

The reader is referred to the following certificates, given on the two first trials which we have made in this county:

Shenandoah County, Virginia, July 28.

We, whose names are hereunto annexed, having witnessed the process for making Molasses from Wheat, by Abraham Whitson, on Tuesday the 27th inst. do give our testimony of his success in the undertaking, as follows:—Having prepared two bushels of wheat, the experiment was made at the mill of John Morgan, and exceeded our most sanguine expectations, the two bushels producing five and a half gallons, and would unquestionably have produced three gallons to the bushel had it not been attended with a considerable waste, owing to our not having the necessary apparatus, &c.

The Molasses, in our opinion, considering its recent state, is nearly equal in taste and flavor to the imported; we are also confident that there was no deception practised.—The operation itself is a very simple one.

John Morgan, R. Winfield,
J. E. Newham, John Lee.
Alexander Pollock,

Shenandoah County, July 31, 1819.

I do hereby certify that Francis Lyman and Abr. Whitson, made at my mill, from two bushels of wheat, seven gallons and three quarts of good molasses, very little inferior to the imported, differing only in flavor, which is nearly as agreeable.

Samuel Brown.

We do hereby certify that we have made a trial of the Molasses above named, and think it deserves the character given it as to flavor and sweetness.

Abraham Smith,
Joseph Boyd.

We understand the process of the manufactory to be as follows:—The grain is ground and mashed, as if for distilling—as soon as the mash arrives at the highest state of saccharine fermentation, it is strained, and the beer (as it is called) boiled down to molasses.

From the Albany Plough Boy.

GOOD!

General M'Clure has established a woolen factory at Bath, Steuben county, and invites the farmers to bring in their wool; engaging that he will afford them cloth fine enough for dandies. He has got Brewster's late invented spinning machine into use, by water power with which a girl of ten years old can attend 250 spindles, and spin 100 pounds of wool a day. With this machine, wool may be spun extremely fine and even; and one hand can perform as much as can be performed by 9 or 10 hand jennies. So much for an American invention. This excellent machine ought to be generally put in operation. It will prove immensely beneficial to this country.

Trenton, (N. J.) Aug. 20.

STATE BANK AT TRENTON.

Reports injurious to the credit of this bank, originating in malice or mischief having obtained circulation in Philadelphia, and reached this place on Monday afternoon last, produced on Tuesday and Wednesday, a considerable press for specie. All demands were promptly paid, in specie or in Philadelphia notes, at the option of the holders of the paper. The alarm consequently subsided, and on Thursday only between fifty and a hundred dollars were demanded. The business of the bank is now going on as heretofore; and we understand the directors have adopted such precautions as will guard against any inconvenience, should the pressure at any time be renewed.

Norfolk, August 30.

Yesterday morning the body of Mr. HILARY DRIVER, of Suffolk, a young man of respectable family and connexions, was found in the dock near the new Custom-House. As the deceased was a stranger in town, he is supposed to have missed his way in the night, and to have fallen into the water, in attempting to pass over a temporary bridge, constructed near the spot where his body was found.

New-Orleans, Aug. 5,

It is suggested to the humane and public spirited citizens of New-Orleans, that, along the coast which has been visited by the late hurricane, there may be many persons, whose houses have been destroyed, and who are destitute of provisions to sustain life. It is reduced to a certainty that a great number of persons, who have been shipwrecked must be in want of assistance to extricate them from their unfortunate situation, and that this city is the nearest place from which they can look for it. One or two vessels of small burthen, suitably manned and equipped, and loaded with provisions and materials for repairing houses and vessels, if immediately despatched along the coast between the Regouletts and Mobile Point, might not only restore many families to the comforts of home, but might be the means of saving the lives of a number of human beings.

August 6.—We are happy to learn that less damage was suffered at the Balize than might have been anticipated, from the hurricane. The light-house lost nothing but the scaffolding which surrounded it, and which was blown down. The only vessels damaged were the brigs Mary-Ann and Sally-Dana, and a ship outward bound, which lost their masts, and are ashore. The above information is brought by the schooner Flying Fish, from Campeachy, which crossed the bar on Saturday last, and arrived opposite the city yesterday.

The new brig which went ashore on Hospital Point on Friday, is still high on the beach.

We learn that a brig (the name, &c. of which we have been unable to ascertain) went ashore on Craney Island, in the gale of Friday. At the same time about 18 sail, schooners and sloops, went ashore on the beach between Lambert's and Seawell's Points. The only one known to us by name is the schr. Resolution, Parks, bound to Philadelphia, which is high on the beach, between Tanner's Creek and Seawell's, but uninjured.

Extract of a letter, dated Truxton, (Cortland co. N. Y.) 8th mo. 16th.

A few days since, a lad of 12 years of age, was pursued by a wolf in a piece of wood. The boy sprang up a small tree, which would have bent to the ground had it not lodged on another. He remained standing on a small limb, not more than an inch thick, all night, the wolf watching him. He was relieved by some of his connexions in the morning, his feet having swelled considerably. The wolf escaped. This happened in the town of German, Chenango county.

"It is with the deepest regret I inform you, that notwithstanding the liberality of G. A few days ago arrived here the UNION of Liverpool—the supercargo states, that during his stay in the river Calaba, not less than eight vessels, averaging 500 slaves each, had sailed for the Spanish colonies."

"Present appearances are very much in favor of the Vineyards, and we have every reason to anticipate an abundant supply of fruit of every description, and far superior to that shipped last season; in addition to which full weight may be calculated on, as strict regulations in regard thereto will be enforced by your consul. In regard to wines, the late licenses granted by the Spanish government to export that article in foreign bottoms, has rendered it scarce, and caused a temporary rise We hope, however, to be able to ship some qualities as last year at same prices, say 18 dollars per quarter cask. No article of American produce can be recommended for this port, but should any send orders for fruit, it would be well to remit bills on London, as the exchange, which is now favorable, is likely to continue so for some months hence. Our last operations were at 38½ sterling per 75 cts."

LONDON FASHIONS FOR JULY.

Walking Dress.—A jaconet muslin round dress, with a chemisette body and long sleeves made rather full, and finished at the bottom with a fulness of muslin in front of the wrists; the fulness confined across by narrow bands, which button in the middle; the bottom of the skirt richly embroidered, and the embroidery surmounted by a full trimming of muslin.—The spencer worn with this dress is composed of primrose-colored figured poplin; the spencer turns over in the pelerine style; it just meets at the bottom of the waist, and partially displays the front of the under dress.—Gloves and shoes to correspond.

Evening Dress.—A white satin slip, over which is a round dress, composed of white gauze with small pink spots: the bottom of the skirt is finished by a band of white satin, terminated by a full flounce of blond lace; over this is a trimming surmounted by a lace flounce.

Parisian Walking Dress.—Cambric muslin gown, ornamented round the border with fine lace, surmounted with five broad tucks, and a richly embroidered flounce edged with lace. Corsage a-la-Savigne, with a dark green embroidered belt. Long puckered sleeves. Triple Spanish ruff of lace, with pointed edges. Yellow gauze bonnet, ornamented with a full bouquet of lilacs. Dove-colored parasol, fringed with white. Dark green kid slippers and gloves.

English Summer Walking Dress.—Round dress of fine India muslin over blush-colored silk, finished by a broad puckered ornament at the border to correspond. Canezou spencer of blush satin and fine lace. Bonnet of the same, with a full bouquet of roses, myrtle blossoms, or other small flowers. Triple antique ruff and fine lace. Lemon-colored kid slippers and gloves, and parasol of sea-green.

DESCRIPTION OF HARPER'S FERRY.

To the Editor of the Morning Chronicle.

SIR—Having heard and read so much respecting Harper's Ferry, I resolved to employ my first leisure in visiting it, which I was lately enabled to do, and now send you the following imperfect description.—As you approach this romantic spot from the Maryland side, you pass over a natural and very rough turnpike of some miles in length. On your right stands an awful and lowering precipice, which seems to threaten you with instantaneous destruction. and on your left, the conjoined waters of the Potomac and Shenandoah rivers roll fiercely, and foam over the rugged path which nature assigned them. Ere I crossed the river, I turned my eyes with inward horror towards the bold front of the rocky heights under which I had passed—so majestically, I may say so magically are they piled by the powerful Architect of the Universe, that, tho' they may threaten the traveller with instant death should he approach them, yet upon examination it will be found that this majestic pile of stone lowers defiance to time and ages, and stands unmoved and immoveable by any power save that by whose command the earth and elements shall dwindle into nothing.—Having crossed the river, the scene changes; art, as if jealous of nature, instantly leads the attention of the stranger captive. The roaring of the waters, and the bustle of nature, are mixed with the echo of the anvil and the machinery of art. Previous to crossing, as you view those dread inspiring precipices around you, no other idea can be formed of their creation than this, that the Creator commanded this mighty mass of rolling chaos to chequer the bosom of his creation with rude and wild romance. Nature, wild unwieldy nature, seems to have selected this spot for her residence; for a moment you behold nought but her rugged shape, but ere you are aware of it, art, glorious art, bursts brilliantly upon your view, and presents her stern and indignant front to the presumptuous foe of our happy republic.

I entered that part of the public buildings, where the iron first assumes the shape of a musket barrel, with it I passed along the working benches and saw it undergo countless changes by numerous artists; after a short time a musket or rifle, "ready for action," is placed in my hands by the finisher. I was forcibly struck with the system and regularity which is observed in this vast establishment. Among the many workmen employed, each has his particular business and his particular stand; these individuals thus directed and organized, form an entire whole, which great and magnificent whole has for its only object the formation of weapons which shall carry death and destruction to the invaders of our blessed republic, and to the foes of our glorious independence!

Here also I saw a machine for the turning of stocks, which I should have believed incapable of invention, had I not viewed it in full operation—instead of the excessive labor and expense formerly employed in this branch, a rough unshapen piece of walnut is now put in the machine, and in a few moments it delivers you a complete stock ready for the polisher—the machine is moved by water and possesses a velocity truly inconceivable. From hence I entered the buildings appropriated for the deposit of finished muskets and rifles. I entered an immense hall filled with glittering arms; so tight and scientifically are they packed, that the countless number of bayonets reminds you of a field of wheat; the comparison is good when I add that a field of wheat yields to the sickle of the husbandman, but that this field yields to no sickle but that of the cold exterminator—the foe of animal life.

While I was here, reflections of a new cast filled my soul. Here innumerable armies are sleeping the balmy sleep of peace; and death, cold, bloody death, their chief, lies slumbering at their front—during his slumber, regular additions are made to his power from the manufactory.—Long may he slumber, and many be the additions his power may receive, until aroused by the cry of freemen, until those frightful and cloud-cap'd precipices give back the echo of their call; then let him arise in all his fearful and bloody majesty, and expel from the soil of freemen the vassals of any foreign power which may dare to invade it.

Here to this spot let me direct the attention of my countrymen; here let them guide their steps, and they will be rejoiced to see that our government, ever watchful for our safety, is actively employed in time of peace to be prepared for war. Though the civilized world now reposes under the olive, and though we are enjoying a full share of its invigorating shade, yet, among the thousands and tens of thousands of bayonets dazzling on the muskets and rifles in the repository, perhaps they contain the identical ones which may in after times, rid us or our posterity from slavery and chains; and perhaps those are now making which may pierce the bosom of blood-stained tyranny. Here, at this spot, is the repose of Independence; she rests between two frightful precipices; her music is the roar of cataracts, mixed with the song of the eagle, and her canopy is formed by the over-arching heavens. The tempestuous roar of the waters are typical of her irresistability, and the flight of the eagle directs her course. When Washington selected this spot for the manufacture of arms for the U. States, the genius of independence must have guided his choice. Amidst rocks and torrents, amidst mountains and precipices, scarcely accessible, she has her throne; here she reposes, not like "slavery in chains," but like the guardian of the U. States, alike careful of her votaries, as she is confident of her own invincibility. My easy access to this establishment induced me to declare, how unlike is our blessed form of government to most others. In foreign countries, a national establishment of this kind can be viewed only with the greatest difficulty, it is of necessity guarded and watched; here, where the American eagle stands centinel on the summit of a precipice, frequently the couch of heavy clouds, where the rolling thunders and the vivid flashes of lightning often glitter by his side; here, in this establishment, I, a private citizen, a stranger, enter unmolested; I view all the preparations my country is making for future defence, against future attack. No armed slaves oppose my curiosity, I view all; the most minute apartment is open for my inspection; I enter the endless forest of finished weapons; I may count them if I have leisure or inclination no one opposes me, because freemen, knowing and feeling their strength, having no other cause than God and their country—having upright motives, treating all nations as friends in peace, and as enemies in war, lay open their deeds to an astonished world, and even uncover to the eyes of the gazing foreigner the bright features of independence herself.

I was born an American, and was reared with all the partialities for which my countrymen are remarkable, but I never felt more proudly an American than at this wild and rugged spot. It appeared to me as if the destinies of my country were lodged in the narrow circle of these few hundred yards, and that nature had made the spot containing so precious a deposit, utterly inaccessible and unconquerable by any foe. In a military point of view the situation is unrivalled for works of defence.

I fully coincide with the French Traveller, whose description of Harper's Ferry Mr. Jefferson translated in his interesting notes on Virginia—"A view of it is worth a voyage across the Atlantic."

I parted from this delightful spot with real regret—the feelings with which it inspired my soul will never leave me—in every musket I have a friend, and in every bayonet a defender. The inhabitants are extremely polite—the attentions I received will not be forgotten—some of the dwelling houses are at the foot of an awful precipice, over which such fearful rocks are hanging, that should they fall, the house and its inhabitants would inevitably be crushed to atoms; and yet perfect security is depicted in every countenance—the fond mother with her infant in her arms consigns herself to undisturbed repose, well knowing that the hand which suspended the mighty rock, still preserves it in its state of adamantine suspension over her and her slumbering innocents.

A NEW SONG; or,
A JOURNEY TO THE CAPE.

TUNE—'Father and I went down to Camp.'

Father and I went down the Cape,
Along with Captain Foster;
For we had heard the stories told
Of what they'd got at Glo'ster.
And there we saw an ocean snake,
'Twas as your Church's isle long;
He left a furrow too behind,
As much as half a mile long.
For we went down and took a boat,
And sail' upon the water;
Father went up so near to him—
'Twas nearer than he ought to.
And every day the men go out,
I saw them in a barge, there;
He's just like one our Laban caught,
Only a nation larger.
And some have said—it may be true,
If 'tis, the deuce is in it—
He often runs at such a rate,
He goes three miles a minute.
And some believ'd the dumb thing was
A cable to an anchor:
But father said it was an eel,
And vow'd it was a spanker.
And father had a swamping knife,
He said he'd run him thro' with;
And take the skin along with him,
To tie up Laban's cue with.
But others tho't it would n't do,
They knew he could not stick sure;
And said there was a man in town
A going to take his picture.
So father and I went home again,
Mother and Laban came in;
She wonder'd why he did n't try
To bring him home and tame him.

Valuable Land for Sale.

PURSUANT to a decree of the Superior Court of Chancery for the district of Fredericksburg, in Virginia, the undersigned commissioners will proceed to sell, at public auction, upon a credit of one, two, and three years, at Middleburg, in the county of Loudon, on Thursday the 18th day of November next,

4000 Acres of Land,

lying in the neighborhood of Middleburg. The whole land is of that quality termed plaister land, and susceptible of high improvement by the use of it. The whole will be laid out into small tracts, of from two to three hundred acres each, and sold in separate tracts to suit purchasers. The whole is well watered, and no country is more healthy. Captain Pickett, who lives near the land, and who is employed to make a survey of it; and Mr. Sommers, who is the agent for the collection of the rents, will shew the land to those who may be inclined to purchase. Bond and security, and a deed of trust upon each tract, will be required of the purchaser.

JOHN LINTON,
JOHN GIBSON,
PHILIP HARRISON.

JOHN HOPKINS

Hill and Dale, April 20.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be goverued by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment. may 25

PROSPECTUS

Of a new periodical work to be published in the city of Washington, entitled the

Washington Theological REPERTORY.

EDITORS. { Rev. Wm Hawley, Washington,
Rev. Wm. H. Wilmer, Alexandria,
Rev. Oliver Norris, Alexandria,
Rev. Reuel Keith, Georgetown.

Assisted by several other literary gentlemen of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

IF any apology were necessary for this undertaking, it may be found in the fact, that there is no publication on a similar plan, in all that section of our country lying south of New York, and but one in the whole of the United States. It has been matter of equal surprize and regret, that the Episcopal Church should be so far behind other Christian denominations, in similar efforts to disseminate the principles of religion and piety. At a period like the present, when the Lord is preparing his way on earth, by the most remarkable efforts of human agency, and the most wonderful operations of his providence and grace—when we perceive in every part of Christendom, a praise-worthy emulation to share in the glorious work of filling the earth with the knowledge of the only true God, and his Son Jesus Christ; it would seem criminal for any to withhold their exertions, however feeble, in the great enterprize of human happiness and salvation. The editors have, therefore, felt it their duty to make this humble effort to supply this acknowledged deficiency on the part of the church in this section of the country, and to bear their share in the common exertions of Christians to promote the Redeemer's Kingdom. And having obtained the services of a gentleman, in whose talents and principles they have confidence, whose time will be wholly devoted to the superintendence of the work, they feel encouraged to solicit the patronage of the public.

The publecation will be conducted under the immediate inspection and control of the above named editors, who will form a committee to review every article intended for publication. The principles upon which it will be conducted are those of the bible, as illustrated in the articles, Liturgy and Homilies of the Protestant Episcopal Church. As members of this church the editors will feel bound to support the Apostolical character of her institutions, the pious tendency of her rites and ceremonies, and the evangelical nature of her doctrines. But in these, and all other discussions, they hope never to loose sight of that great law of charity which teaches us to "preserve the unity of the spirit in the bond of peace."

Acting upon those catholic principles, so long and so successively pursued by "The Christian Observer," their chief object will be to inculcate sound theological knowledge, and to delineate and recommend pure and vital religion. They trust therefore, that while the members of every Christian denomination may find something edifying and instructive, none will discover any just cause for offence in the pages of this work. General subjects of biblical criticism, practical illustrations of scriptural truth, the biography of illustrious persons, evidences of the truth of revelation, essays on the history and polity of the church, reviews of interesting publications, religious, literary and philosophical intelligence—in short, whatever is connected with the promotion of religion, humanity and literature, will find a place in this repository.

The testimony of experience supersedes the necessity of dwelling on the advantages of a periodical publication on the plan proposed. Its obvious tendency will be to render the various departments of religious knowledge more easy and accessible, and give a more ready currency and wider circulation, to those great truths which involve the present welfare and future destiny of man.

It will tend powerfully to stimulate the exertions of the editors, and console them under the difficulties attendant on the prosecution of this work, amidst many other avocations, should it prove the means under the blessing of God, of enriching any of its readers with the saving knowledge of Christ, and prepare them for a participation in the felicity and glory of his heavenly kingdom. With this hope they commit it into his hands, and confidently solicit their brethren of the clergy and laity to assist them in carrying into effect the objects of the undertaking.

TERMS OF THE WORK.

A volume of the Repertory shall consist of twelve numbers, of which one shall be published on the first day of every month, containing thirty-two large octavo pages, stitched in blue, and attended with a table of contents.

The paper used in the work shall be good, and the typography executed with the greatest care.

The price of a volume is two dollars, payable in advance; to such as omit the advance, two dollars and fifty cents.

It is designed to enlarge the size of the work, without increasing the price, as soon as one thousand subscribers shall be obtained.

Communications and remittances may be directed to any of the editors, post paid

Any person becoming responsible for five subscribers, shall receive a sixth copy gratis.

The first number may be expected in the month of July. June 26

For Sale,

TWO tracts of valuable land in Durham Parish, Charles County, Maryland opposite Nanjemoy Reach—one of these tracts of land is bounded on one side by the Potomac, has a valuable fishery, and contains about 360 acres of bottom, with a quantity of wood that ought to be cut.—The other is about three-fourths of a mile from the river, from one half to two thirds covered with wood and valuable white-oak timber, and contains about 700 acres. Both tracts have an orchard of choice fruit. The above land will be sold at Charles County Court, on THURSDAY in the third week of August next at Public sale, if not sold before, at private sale.—The terms will be made known at the sale. Timber or wood may be purchased any time previous to the sale
